Art. 1- Research Project

Open call for the selection procedure on the basis of candidates' qualifications, possibly integrated by an interview, for the assignment of one research grant of the duration of one year entitled: "Requirement analysis and software design within the SKA (Square Kilometer Array) project for the TM work package – Telescope Manager ".

SKA (Square Kilometer array) is an international project for the building of the greatest radiotelescope in the world, with a "collecting area" of about a square kilometer. SKA telescopes will be located in two areas, South Africa and Australia and, through a network of some hundredths of thousands of antennas, astronomers will be able to monitor the sky at an unrivalled image resolution and a speed which is thousands times higher than the speed of any other existing survey system.

INAF-Astronomical Observatory of Trieste is now involved in the following SKA work-packages, which refer to the Telescope Manager sub-system (including all necessary hardware and software to control the telescope and the associated/linked infrastructure):

- Telescope manager – System Engineering: includes all system engineering and high-level software design activities of the Telescope Manager.
- Telescope Manager – Observation management: includes all functional activities to astronomical observations

- Telescope Manager - Local Monitoring & Control: includes all necessary software and hardware to support the Telescope Manager operations.

The goal of the research grant is to participate to the study of requirements and to the subsequent software design within the above mentioned functional activities carried out by the Astronomical Observatory of Trieste in the framework of SKA-TM project for the periods relevant to Stage 1 and Stage 2 of the project.
